

‘Shark Tank’-Endorsed Vegan Bakery Comes to Capitol Hill

Plus Loxsmith Bagels is building a home in Ballard, Bainbridge Island’s Cafe Nola has closed after 19 years, and more by Adam H. Callaghan@AHCallaghan Sep 12, 2018, 10:33am PDT

Welcome back to Eater News, a semi-regular round-up of mini news bites. Have info to share? Email intel to seattle@eater.com.

- Vegan cinnamon roll chain Cinnaholic debuts in Seattle in October when franchisees Trieva Katsandres and Maysaa Abouhamze open a Capitol Hill location next to Capitol Cider on E Pike St. Founders Shannon and Florian Radke successfully pitched ABC’s Shark Tank in 2014; the company website now lists 24 current or upcoming U.S. locations.