Homewatch CareGivers of Naperville has launched the Healthy Partners program to provide resources to those who need them most during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Owner Dennise Vaughn launched the program to deliver N95 masks to local health care workers and since has expanded it in several ways. The Healthy Partners Program has connected people with sewing skills to sewing machines so they can make more masks; created hand sanitizer for those in need; taught local seniors how to use technology to conduct video chats with family; and provided lunches to health care centers and people stuck at home.
