Cinnaholic is bringing its acclaimed cinnamon rolls to Dunwoody.

The vegan bakery chain, which first gained national attention on the TV show “Shark Tank,” plans to open a location on Chamblee Dunwoody Road in July, according to a statement from the company.

It will be the second Cinnaholic in Georgia, following the location in the Edgewood shopping center.

The bakery is known for its vegan cinnamon rolls and wide range of frosting flavors. It also serves brownies, cookies, baby buns and ice cream. The Dunwoody location will be at 5590 Chamblee Dunwoody Road in the Dunwoody Village area; Cinnaholic has not announced a specific opening date.
