HOLLAND — A local automotive shop is asking drivers to share their "clunkers" for a chance to win a half-decade of oil changes.

Christian Brothers Automotive, 424 Baypark Drive in Holland, is asking drivers to share why they love their vehicles, despite each scuff, dent and spill.

Participants must visit the business' national website at cbac.com/clunkercontest before Friday, April 30, to submit an entry. Drivers must upload a photo or video of their "clunker" and share a few sentences about why they love it — or a favorite memory.

Throughout the month, Christian Brothers Automotive will share chronicles on social media, as well as tips to keep vehicles with more mileage and "character" running for as long as possible. The most compelling submission be announced in early May, and the winner will receive free oil changes for five years.

“While some strive to drive the latest and greatest cars on the market, others value sticking with a car that has been by their side through every bump and pothole in the road,” said Donnie Carr, president of Christian Brothers Automotive. “Our goal is to help drivers keep their vehicles — no matter how old or worn — safely running for as long as possible.”

Christian Brothers Automotive, based in Houston, opened its first location in 1982. Today, the auto service and repair shop has more than 230 locations across 30 states.
